From the Director ...

Every enduring play has an exciting and varied history, and Anything Goes is no exception. First staged in 1934, Anything Goes originally ran for 420 performances in New York with Ethel Merman creating the role of Reno Sweeney, the loud and lusty female lead.

In 1962 Anything Goes was revived and ran for 239 performances, and in late 1987 Patti LuPone starred as Reno Sweeney in a newly-revised version which ran on Broadway for eleven months.

The most recent Broadway revival starred Sutton Foster as Reno who then transferred to the London production at the Barbican Theatre.

So why is Anything Goes—written eighty years ago for a world vastly different from ours – so popular today?

Simply put, if one wants to escape from today's rather harsh realities for a few hours, this is the place to do it.

The genius of Anything Goes lies in the combination of both seriously good music and lyrics from the late, great Cole Porter and a P. G. Woodhouse plot so gloriously inconsequential and ridiculously funny that by the end of a performance all your Covid cares will have vanished. This is the second time I have directed Anything Goes and I am extremely grateful to Barnstormers for the opportunity to do so again. I love the zany world of gangsters, nobility, singers, Brits versus Yanks, rich versus poor, heathens versus evangelists, and disguises versus revelations and I sincerely hope that you will too.

Tony Betts

Notes from the Musical Director ...

Anything Goes holds a special place in my heart. Whilst this is the second time Barnstormers has done the show, I have also had the pleasure to do it with two other groups as well. It's a musical that encompasses many of the things I love about a great musical theatre show – music that puts a smile on my face when I play it, harmonies that are a joy to teach and listen to, and a story that's funny and entertaining. It's making me wonder why this is only my fourth time.

Even having done the show so many times, it still challenges and surprises me. The version you are seeing today introduces some new music taken from the 2011 Broadway production (and also used in the 2021 London Barbican production) which is a great addition. Every cast, band, and production team interprets the characters, songs and scenes slightly differently, and it's been exciting to see this version evolve over the last few months. And yet, some of the spoken lines that have remained unchanged from the very first time I saw the show, and I've heard so many times, still make me laugh.

Thank you to everyone who has made this production so much fun to do, and thank you to you for supporting Barnstormers today.

Charity Collection

result

£370.52

At the end of each performance we have a collection in aid of a named charity.

Our end of show charity collection for Anything Goes will be split between The Martlets Hospice and Cancer Research UK and will be in memory of two people close to Barnstormers.

John Corin, who was a long time member of Barnstormers passed away in late December 2021. John, affectionately known as JC, was a Barnstormers legend and was held in high regard by all the Barnstormers family. He was a true gentleman and will be very much missed by all

In addition, Jake Clarke, brother of our leading man Sam, recently lost his valiant battle with cancer. We send our love and condolences to all his family and friends.

If you are in a position to donate towards these worthy causes we would be most grateful.

For our previous show, 'Best of Barnstormers', we also nominated The Martlets . Thanks to everyone who donated, we raised an amazing £370.52.

With special thanks to:

Seaford Musical Theatre for use of mics and props

Gladrags for use of costumes

Our advertisers for supporting us

Brighton & Hove Methodist Circuit for making the purchase of our fabulous new stage possible

And of course ... Patcham Methodist Church
